

Stock (Matthiola)

Our flowering stock varieties command the best prices at the market due to their superior quality. By sowing extra early, early, mid season and late varieties all at the one time you are able to spread the flowering flush. But remember mid and late season varieties need lower temperatures to initiate flowering, so it is unwise to sow the mid season varieties too early.

For further information regarding flowering times, please contact us. Flowering times may differ in some areas.
